

1.

Weak entity set is existence dependent since it could not identify its existence without an identifying entity set. A weak entity set does not have primary key. Instead, it has a partial discriminator key.

Strong entity is not dependent on any other entity in the schema. As strong entity will always have a primary key.

2.

